The Spoils of Conquest: A Nathan Peake Novel, Book 6 (The Nathan Peake Novels) By Seth Hunter

The Mouth of the Nile, 9th August, 1798: Admiral Nelson has sent Captain Nathan Peake on a desperate journey across the Middle East to convey a grim warning to British India. Bonaparte's army is poised to deliver a fatal blow to the source of Britain's wealth and power by marching overland to India. Arriving in Bombay, Nathan takes command of the East India Company's naval wing - the Bombay Marine - an under-armed and poorly crewed flotilla of sloops and gunboats. With these meager resources he must stop the flow of French supplies to their Indian ally and protect the Company's trade from the pirates and privateers swarming in the Bay of Bengal. But when Nathan discovers the truth behind the East India Company's honourable facade he confronts some tough personal choices.

Editorial Review

Review

"A more natural storyteller's eye than Patrick O'Brian . . . well wrought and deftly told." —Sunday Telegraph

"This book has it all . . . will be welcomed by lovers of historical naval fiction." —Daily Mail

"The action is handled with complete assurance and all matters nautical carry the requisite salty whiff of authenticity . . . Hunter keeps the plot continually on the boil." —Yorkshire Evening Post

"I'm already looking forward to the next instalment. A highly compelling read." —Historical Novels Review

"A compelling read, imaginative, knowledgeable, fast-moving . . . full of twists and turns." —Naval Review

"Will exceed expectations of lovers of historical fiction. Anyone who appreciates excellent prose, witty anecdotes, complex action, intertwining plots, and all-round great writing will anxiously await the next installment." —Foreword Reviews

"Hunter delivers another slick nautical adventure in the Patrick O'Brian tradition . . . The rousing naval battles, twisty plot, and muscular prose lift Hunter's nautical yarn a few notches above the competition." —Publishers Weekly
